

ORGANIZATION OF JOINT COMMITTEE

Representatives of Commercial Club
and Tuesday Club Effect
New Civic League.

C. D. BILLINGS IS CHAIRMAN

Mrs. Harry M. Miller is Vice Chairman and L. C. Griffiths Secretary
—Sanitation is Discussed.

Organization of the Improvement Civic Committee, composed of ten members each of the Seymour Commercial Club and the Tuesday Club, was effected Monday night at a meeting at the Library. C. D. Billings, chairman of the Commercial Club committee, was chosen president of the joint committee, Mrs. Harry M. Miller was elected vice-chairman and L. C. Griffiths was named as secretary of the permanent organization. It was voted to hold regular meetings hereafter, the second Tuesday of each month at the Library.

Following the permanent organization of the joint committee plans concerning immediate work to be done were discussed. It was decided that sanitary conditions of the city should be given first attention and that certain regulations should be enforced in order to make the general clean-up campaign which has just closed most effective.

The members of the joint committee were of the opinion that the open garbage containers were a menace to public health and intend to wage a campaign at once for closed containers. A recent inspection of the alleys following the clean-up campaign revealed that a large percentage of the residents had not provided closed containers as required by the city ordinance. It was further emphasized that open containers are breeding places for flies and affect the general health of the city.

It was stated at the meeting Monday night that the failure to have closed containers was due more to neglect than to any other cause. Garbage cans can be purchased for less than fifty cents so that the expense ought not to stand in the way of enforcing the ordinance, it was stated. During the discussion it was reported that many persons who are well able to purchase the cans were using open tubs and buckets for such refuge and it was believed that they would comply with the city ordinance if their attention was called to the necessity of protecting their own health as well as that of their neighbors.

The health board of the city is al-

CITY OFFICIALS INVITED TO SEE SAFETY FIRST TRAIN

J. C. Hagerty, Representing the B. & O., Urges People of Seymour to See This Exhibit.

J. C. Hagerty, of the Baltimore & Ohio, was in the city to-day and personally extended an invitation to Mayor Ross and the members of the city council to see the Safety First train which will be in Seymour Monday, May 29. Mr. Hagerty also extended an invitation to the Commercial Club to inspect the exhibit in a body.

"I extend a personal invitation as well as one on behalf of the Company to the people of Seymour to see this exhibit," said Mr. Hagerty. He was formerly superintendent of the local division and has many warm friends here.

The exhibit is said to be the greatest of its kind that has been shown in the United States. It was arranged by the several departments of the federal government and President Willard of the B. & O. The fact that each car bears the coat of arms of the President of the United States is sufficient to prove its merits as the coat of arms cannot be used except by permission of the president. An invitation has been extended to the school children to see the exhibit.

LICENSE PLATE IS FOUND BY MOTOR ASSOCIATIONS

Metal Tag is Lost While Traveling in Four Counties but is Returned to M. S. Blish, the Owner.

How the Jackson Motor Club with the allied organizations throughout the state directly benefit the members has been demonstrated to M. S. Blish of this city. On Sunday, May 7, Mr. Blish and family drove to Shelbyville to attend a Christian Science lecture and on the trip lost the license plate which was attached to the rear of the machine. None of the party noticed that the plate was gone until after the arrival here. They thought they had the license number while in Shelbyville and as the return trip was made through Edinburg and Columbus the plate was lost in Shelby, Johnson, Bartholomew or Jackson county.

About ten days after the plate was lost Mr. Blish asked E. B. Bryan, secretary of the local club, to make inquiry. Mr. Bryan wrote to the secretaries of the Associations in the other three counties and this morning Mr. Blish received a card from W. H. Lincoln, of the Bartholomew County Club that the plate had been found and was being returned to him. As no duplicates are issued by the secretary of state Mr. Blish would have been required to purchase a new license which would have cost as much as his annual dues to the local Motor Club.

B. AND O. EMPLOYEES TO HAVE BALL TEAM

Seymour to be Represented by Team in League Made up of Various Towns on the Indiana Division.

DIVISION WINNERS TO PLAY

Deciding Game, to Determine Championship of Entire System, to be Played on Labor Day.

Local employees of the B. and O. S-W. are organizing a base ball team, and will soon be ready to take the field and display their ability on the diamond. The team has the backing of all of the division officials and of the general officers of the B. and O. system. Similar teams are to be organized at several other towns on each division, and a regular schedule arranged. The winners of the divisional championships will then play against the other champion divisional teams in their district, and the district champion teams will play a final series, probably at Baltimore, to determine the system championship. A beautiful silver cup has been offered by Mr. Thompson, third vice president of the road, to be held for a year by, and to be suitably inscribed with, the name of the winning team, and to become the permanent possession of the team first winning it three times.

Included in the Southwestern district, for the purpose of having the best competition, will be the Ohio, Indiana and Illinois divisions. The other districts will be the New York Main Line, Wheeling, Pittsburg, and C. H. & D. The plans are for the final game to be played on or about Labor Day on the league grounds, either at Baltimore or Washington, and it will be attended by Mr. Willard, president, Mr. Thompson and other officials.

The local team has some promising material, both among the office men and the train men, and it is believed that an excellent nine can be put in the field. At a meeting held recently various committees were named to take up the arrangements for the grounds, uniforms, and other organization details. The company owns the grounds known as the cooper shop diamond in the Third Ward, and this ground will be used for practice purposes. It is possible that the officials may decide to make a sure enough ball park out of the field, enclosing it and erecting a stand. In case this should not be decided on, the games will probably be played at Schroer Park.

Several of the local players have already been out for preliminary practice, and the line up of the team will be announced soon. Cash Me-

The Republican's part in arranging this school is in line with the Better which is sweeping the country and arousing the interest of all intelligent women. Important newspapers in other sections of Indiana and of the United States have secured Miss Peet to give her Better Foods Better Homes lessons and women everywhere attest to their practical value.

Nothing is too good for the women of Seymour, and the Republican is greatly pleased that she could be secured for this city.

This afternoon Miss Peet is telling women how to serve new dishes with which to please and surprise their families and how to vary the bill-of-fare without increasing the cost of living. The question of economy which is one of vital interest to all whether the income be ample or stinted, receives much consideration at Miss Peet's hands.

Monday afternoon she emphasized the need of women knowing how to spend money and run their homes on a business like basis. To-night she

FRESH TOMATOES CAUSED SICKNESS

Number of Local People Suffering
With an Acute Form of Ptomaine Poisoning.

VEGETABLE APPEARED FRESH

Physicians Report Similar Cases Resulting From the Eating of Slightly Tainted Meat.

Several cases of illness believed to have resulted from eating imported tomatoes are reported in the city.
It is thought by physicians who have been called in such cases that the tomatoes have caused a poisoning similar to ptomaine poisoning. Several persons who have been affected have been very ill and have been unable to leave their bed for several days.

Mrs. R. W. Hargitt, East Third street, has been attacked with the poisoning and for several days her condition was serious. Other persons have been suffering from a similar illness. It is thought that the tomatoes causing the poisoning were shipped here at the same time.
It is stated that apparently they were solid and fresh and showed no signs of decay. Following the report of the sickness after eating the tomatoes it is stated that some of the southern growers have a method of injecting a preserving fluid in the tomatoes before they are shipped.
When asked about this method local grocers and dealers said they had never heard of such a plan of preserving tomatoes and said it would not be permitted under the interstate laws.

Another physician said he had been called to see a number of local people who were suffering from acute stomach disorder and was of the opinion that the illness was the cause of eating tainted milk, meats and vegetables. He said at this time of the year meats and milk spoil in a few hours and that many families are not taking ice. He said that meat would come from the butcher shop in good condition but that it might be left wrapped in the paper in which it came for several hours and would be slightly tainted by the time it was used. The doctor said that apparently the meat would be in perfect condition and the housewife would not know it was tainted.

The physician declared that this is the time of the season to put up screens and take other precautions to keep the flies out of the house, especially from the kitchen and dining room. "Too many people think that it is not necessary to put up screens or take ice until the weather becomes very hot. This is a mistake. Screens should be put up immediately. Flies are developing at this time of the year rapidly and do as much harm as later in the summer. As for the ice, it is as necessary to keep meats and milk chilled now as it is in the middle of August. Later in the summer it is easy to detect meats which are tainted but at this time of the year it is often difficult to ascertain when they begin to spoil and no family should run the risk. A little care will save sickness."

The physician said that there is much illness during the late spring
each year and he thought much of it could be avoided by watching closely the condition of the food. Persons who were taken sick after eating the tomatoes say that they were kept on ice and are of the opinion that they contained some chemical that produced their illness.

MEXICO'S FINANCIAL CONDITION IS SERIOUS

Important Information Sent to President Wilson From a Consular Staff Officer.

(By Carl D. Groat, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, May 23.—The great underlying elements of a nation's life—money, industry and food—are in a deplorable condition in Mexico.

Reports today from one of the consular staff gave administration men a distinct shock. The information contained in his latest message was before President Wilson and his cabinet. The report pictured starvation. It declared flatly that economic conditions are very much worse; that the Carranza fiat is shaky and that the railroad strike affecting a large part of Mexico transportation is presenting a grave problem from the communication standpoint.

What the administration will do towards this problem is not yet announced. Added to the consular message is an expected personal report from Consul Letcher, at Chihuahua City, due here from the border. Men in touch with his past confidential messages said his version of the situation would not be optimistic.

WILSON COMPLETES NOTE AGAINST MAIL SEIZURE

Communication to Great Britain is Largely Legal in Character—Instruction to Page

By United Press.

Washington, May 23.—President Wilson to-day completed his note protesting against mail seizure by Great Britain. It was sent to Secretary Lansing for the latter's signature shortly before noon. Largely legal in character the communication closes with instructions to Ambasador Page the complaints already made by the United States.

The legal discussion relates to the practice followed by the British patrol cruisers in holding up neutral vessels, in carrying United States mails taking them in British courts and there subjecting the mails to censorship. This practice, the American note insists, is essentially without the pale of international law and contrary to all recognized rules respecting the laws of neutral mails in time of war.

3,000 TEXAS GUARDSMEN SWORN IN FOR BORDER DUTY

State Militia of Arizona and New Mexico Have Presented Only
Small Number of Men.

By United Press.

Washington, May 23.—More than 3,000 Texas militiamen have been mustered in for border duty. The national guard of Arizona and New Mexico have presented, however, only a small number of men, and the muster from these states is delayed until the ranks are filled up. The war department received from General Funston a report showing 3,354 Texans sworn in for border duty today. Secretary of War Baker considered a report outlining the method of proceeding with the court martial of the 116 New Mexican guardsmen who refused to report. Baker reluctant to say what his action would be.

KICKED BY HORSE

Painfully Injured.

Lloyd Kerkhof, living near Cort-

at noon when a horse which he was unbitingly kicked him on the forehead. The boy had just removed the bridle and was walking behind the animal to hang the harness on the wall when he received the injury.
It was not until the arrival of a physician that he regained consciousness. The doctor said, however, that no bones were broken and that he expected the patient to recover speedily.

Paris, May 22.—The tri-color of a

French capital today in celebration of the most striking victory won by the French since the great battle of Verdun begun.

The public has been worked into a frenzy of excitement by official word that the French forces have re-positions on a front of a mile and a quarter. Announcement of further gains on the west bank of the Meuse has convinced the French people that the Dead Man's Hill positions are almost impregnable to German assault.

ASQUITH ASKS WAR CREDIT OF A BILLION AND A HALF

If Bill Passes in British Commons
Total Appropriations Will Reach $11,900,000,000.

By United Press.

London, May 23.—Premier Asquith
this afternoon moved in commons a new war credit of $1,500,000,000, bringing the total appropriations since the beginning of the war to $11,900,000,000.

In urging the passing of the new credit the prime minister declared that without loans from England the allies would be unable to continue their combined efforts successfully.
England cannot hope to diminish her loans to her allies or to her dominions, he declared. He said it would be unwise to count on England's expenditures falling below $23,000,750
a day.

will discuss, "The Cost of Living and How to Buy," and as this is a question men worry about, just as much as the women, she invites both partners in the homemaking business to attend this evening session. To make her evening more alluring, Miss Peet promises to bake ice cream and serve it hot. There are not many novel cookery "stunts" in Miss Peet's Better Foods Better Homes program. It is her aim to teach only every day things and prepare for her classes the every day dishes that interest the busy woman who desires to give her children plenty of good wholesome well cooked food. But Miss Peet says that she finds plenty of excuses for serving even so unusual a dish as baked ice cream, because it is full of nourishment.

It would be hard to find at an entertainment of any kind a more deeply satisfied and interesting audience than that which greeted Miss Peet at the opening session of the Republican Better Foods Better Homes school yesterday. The women present approved of every feature of Miss Peet's work. One thing they liked about it was that they did not have to copy recipes. Those Miss Peet uses are contained in the recipe leaflets which she gives away every day to those who attend her classes. Many wondered how Miss Peet could cook enough food to serve the big crowd present, but she proved that she is capable of even this difficult task. She is quite accustomed to cooking for large crowds and enjoys nothing more than to have a hall well filled with women interested in good cooking and in sampling the foods she prepares. There will be plenty of baked ice cream for all who attend tonight. Miss Peet will also serve cake and fry doughnuts.

To-morrow she gives one of the most interesting lessons on her program, telling in detail how to make good bread.

As announced by Miss Peet, the recipes for Napoleons and Patty Shells demonstrated by her today at the Republican Better Foods Better Homes school are given below together with some other interesting recipes submitted by her.

NAPOLEONS

Use same paste as for patty shells. Bake paste in three thin sheets, pricking thoroughly before baking. Cut in heart or diamond shapes. When baked, put together with cream filling. Cover top with confectioner's icing, and sprinkle with pistachio nuts which have been blanched and chopped.

CREAM FILLING

2 tablespoonfuls sugar; 1-3 cupful flour; 1/8 teaspoonful salt; 2 eggs; 2 cupfuls scalded milk; 1 teaspoonful vanilla or lemon extract. Mix dry ingredients and eggs beaten. Gradually pour over this the scalded milk. Cook 15 minutes in double boiler, stirring constantly until it thickens. Cool and flavor.

PATTY SHELLS

2 cupfuls flour; 3/4 teaspoonful salt; 3/4 cupful crisco; 1 egg; 1 tablespoonful lemon juice. Sufficient cold water to hold mixture together. Sift flour and salt into basin. Chop crisco into flour until mixture looks like meal, add gradually egg well beaten and mixed with lemon

BUMPER STRAWBERRY CROP PROMISED IN THIS COUNTY

This Does Not Necessarily Mean Price Will be Low as The Demand Is Always Large.

Strawberries will be plentiful in Jackson county this spring, according to the growers who are looking for the biggest crop in many years. This does not necessarily mean that the price will be lower than usual, the growers and dealers say, as the local supply is always too small to meet the heavy demand. A few home grown berries have been marketed in this city and it is expected that many growers will be bringing them in before the end of the week. The recent rain was beneficial to the plants and berries of exceptionally fine quality are expected.

A big blackberry crop is also looked for in this county. The wild bushes are loaded with blooms and the cultivated vines are bearing small berries. There are but few raspberries in this county and accordingly the price will be high. A normal cherry yield is promised, although in some localities the trees are not as heavily laden as in former years.

JURY RETURNS VERDICT IN LESS THAN FIVE MINUTES

Joseph Arbuckle Loses Suit For Damages, Alleging Breach of Contract by Defendants.

In almost record breaking time the jury in the case of Joseph Arbuckle against W. F. Pfaffenberger and W. L. Johnson for damages returned a verdict in circuit court Monday afternoon for the defendants. The jury was out less than five minutes when the bailiff announced that the verdict had been reached.

The plaintiff asked $180 damages in his complaint for an alleged breach of contract. He claimed that he had entered into a contract with the defendants to dig a basement under the Pfaffenberger building and that he was not permitted to proceed with the work. The defendants showed the jury that no contract had ever been signed and that they had not even agreed between themselves as to whether or not the work would be done.

ASEYMOURINTERVIEW

Mr. Williams Tells His Experience.

The following brief account of an interview with a Seymour man over five years ago, and its sequel, will be read with keen interest by every citizen.

A. P. Williams, 217 S. Broadway, Seymour, says: "I suffered severely from kidney complaint and trouble with the kidney secretions. I tried everything I heard of but could get no permanent benefit until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. They brought my kidneys to a normal condition, and improved my health wonderfully." (Statement given April 16, 1910.)

A SECOND STATEMENT.

On December 14, 1915, Mr. Williams said: "I am glad to confirm my former endorsement of Doan's Kidney Pills. I know from personal experience that they are a good medicine."

As a usual thing the annual is out before this time, but owing to the fact that the engravers were slow in getting out the cuts the publication was delayed.

MOUNTAIN TOP BLOWN UP.

Younger Garibaldi Devised Exploit. Tunnel Dug Underneath.

According to the Milan correspondent of the London Chronicle, it was the younger Garibaldi, now serving as an officer in the Alpini, who originated the idea of capturing the summit of Col di Lana, the lofty mountain barring the Italian advance into the Cordevole valley in the Dolomites, by tunneling under it and blowing the whole top off the mountain, an enterprise which the Italian troops recently accomplished.

The task began on Christmas day, the dispatch says, of boring a gallery 250 feet long through solid rock. The tunnel was made large enough for two men to rush up it abreast to the assault after the explosion, and the mine charge consisted of ten tons of blasting gelatin and dynamite, while the shaft was closed with a massive shield of steel armor plate to protect the shaft and also permit it to be promptly opened for a charge after the explosion.

The mine was set off at 11:30 the other night and more than 200 Austrians killed in the explosion, while the position was swiftly rushed by the Italians.

TO SPEND $1,250,000,000.

Congress to Break All Records in Making Appropriations.

The first session of the Sixty-fourth congress will appropriate for the next fiscal year $1,250,000,000 — a record. Here are the estimates:

Sundry civil bill, $230,000,000; post office, $325,000,000; navy, $220,000,000; army, $180,000,000; fortifications, $43,000,000; legislative and executive, $38,000,000; rivers and harbors, $40,000,000; Indians, $12,000,000; agriculture, $24,000,000; District of Columbia, $12,000,000; pensions, $165,000,000; three deficiency bills already passed, $25,000,000.

Appropriations for the Mississippi flood district, Alaska, nitrate plants, the shipping bill and other minor things make up the balance. The appropriations last year amounted to a little more than $1,000,000,000.

JOHN MEGEL, AGED SEVENTY YEARS, SUDDENLY STRICKEN

Section Foreman for Forty Years on O. & M. and Monon Railroads, Passes Away Here.

John Megel, aged seventy-nine years, a section foreman on the O. & M., now the B. & O. S-W., and Monon Railroads for forty years, died suddenly of heart trouble Monday night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Henry Niemeyer, East Fifth street. For the last year his health had been failing and several days ago he contracted a cold which settled in the region of his heart. He ate supper with the members of the family Monday night and at 11 o'clock said he was feeling better. At 11:45 Mrs. Niemeyer went to his room to give him medicine and found him dead. Apparently the end had come a few moments before she entered the room.

Mr. Megel was born near Strausberg, Alsace Lorraine, then a province of France, November 24, 1836, making his exact age seventy-nine years, five months and twenty-eight days. He emigrated to the United States in 1854 settling in Boston. He remained there about two years and at the age of twenty came to Indiana locating near Hayden, Jennings county. He was united in marriage to Miss Mary Knaub, November 3, 1859.

Mr. Megel was engaged in agricultural pursuits for several years and during the Civil War enlisted in the Thirty-first Indiana Infantry serving two years. He saw active service in Tennessee and Mississippi. At the close of the war he returned to Hayden and secured employment as a foreman of a section crew on the O. & M. Railroad. He was working for this company at the time the track was changed from a "broad gauge" to a standard gauge.

After working for the O. & M. company for several years he secured a position as section foreman with the Monon and lived at Cloverdale for a number of years. About nine years ago he came to this city and had lived with his daughter. He is survived by his widow, three sons, J. J. of Henning, Tenn., Joseph, of Stinesville, Charles, of Kokomo, three daughters, Mrs. Frank Motley, of Frankfort, Mrs. James E. Corpew, of Newport News, Va., Mrs. Niemeyer, this city, and seven grandchildren.

The funeral will occur at 9 o'clock Thursday morning from the St. Ambrose Catholic church, conducted by the Rev. Father C. J. Conrad. Burial at the Catholic cemetery.

MATT JACKSON DEAD

Veteran of Spanish-American War Dies at Home in This City.

Matthew Hillis Jackson, aged thirty-nine years and twenty-seven days, died at 7:45 o'clock this morning at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Matthew H. Jackson, West Third street, after an extended illness with a complication of diseases. He was born in Ripley county and had lived in this city for twenty-five years. He enlisted in the 161st Indiana Infantry and served in the Spanish-American war. He is survived by his parents, and three sisters, Mrs. Mary A. Loyd, Mrs. John Riley and Mrs. Isis Ireland.

The funeral will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Christian church, conducted by the pastor, the Rev. F. P. Smith.

Mrs. Harvey Lewellyn Dead.

Mrs. Harvey Lewellyn, aged sixty-two years, died at 10:10 o'clock Monday night at her home four miles south of Crothersville. She had been suffering from heart trouble for some time. She leaves a large family of children. The funeral will take place Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock from the Bethany church. Burial at the Christian cemetery at Austin.

NEW TIME SCHEDULE ON PENNSYLVANIA SUNDAY

Accommodation Train From North in Afternoon Comes More Than an Hour Earlier—Other Changes.

Several changes in the time of the arrival of Pennsylvania trains are made in the new schedule, effective Sunday, May 28. The time card is usually changed on Sunday as fewer trains are in operation on that day than at any other time of the week.

The most important change from the local standpoint is that of southbound accommodation train which will arrive hereafter at 1:13 in the afternoon. Under the old schedule it was due at 2:37 p. m. Northbound the accommodation due under the old schedule at 4:17 will arrive at 4:24. This will give Seymour passengers from the north an hour and a half more time in this city.

The morning accommodation train northbound will arrive at 8:15 instead of 8:18. No. 317 is due at 9:42 a. m. instead of 9:43 a. m. No change is made in the time of northbound passenger trains due at 8:22 p. m. and 10:32 p. m. The midnight Chicago express will arrive at 12:28, just two minutes later.

Slight changes have been made in the southbound schedule. The three trains from Chicago will arrive at 5:26 a. m. instead of 5:20, at 7:03 instead of 7:15 a. m. and at 9:42 instead of 9:24 a. m.

No. 316 southbound will arrive at 4:52 instead of 4:55 p. m. and 8:46 from Indianapolis will arrive at 9:20 p. m. the time being unchanged.

The new schedule will make a slight difference in the closing time of the mails at the local postoffice. The mails are closed there thirty minutes before the trains are due to arrive.

JOSEPH HOLMAN (58)

The history of Wayne county has preserved the names of many early settlers who contributed much to the state. Among the number was Joseph Holman. He was born at Wolford, Ky., October 1, 1785, and brought by his parents to a point near Richmond when a young boy.

In 1814 he ran for the territorial legislature and was defeated by a single vote because he refused to vote for himself. A year later he was elected to the convention which drafted the state constitution. Holman served several terms in the legislature.

For six years (1823-1829) Holman has charge of the land office at Fort Wayne and at the same time carried on his business of merchant, tanner and pork packer. He represented Allen county in the legislature of 1830.

CHAPTER IX.

After Six Years.

A broad flight of flat steps led up and up to the wide-flung portals of Minot house. Ascending these you unconsciously elevated your chin, for as you climbed, the great columns of that stately porch held your eye. Minot house was the Parthenon where a thousand devotees made obeisance to all the gods of Education.

Minot was dead, and lived again in the spirit which pervaded the house of his splendid endowment. Minot, born poor, lived and died to enrich Sheffield with the magnificence of his idea, rearing a free university for the people, a temple to the spirit of helpfulness and self-reliance.

If you could not learn a thing at Minot house, it was because you were unteachable. But the pupils were of a high order of teachability, since they went there with one idea—to learn. No social distinction attached to the student at Minot house, and if you fancied such a distinction before you entered, you dropped the notion promptly or Minot house dropped you. However, when you graduated, you found yourself in possession of the more profitable distinction of efficiency.

Minot house was a citizen factory; it worked two shifts. Long after other industries closed their eyes for the night lights blazed from the windows of Minot house. Only one type of enterprise vied with it in the matter of business hours, and that was, oddly enough, the saloon, whose function was to destroy, while Minot house produced, citizens. It should be said that the Minot product offered poor pickings for that sort of competition.

Up the flight of broad, flat steps now climbed a boy; a boy with a face eager and alert, and a quantity of blond hair that waved and twisted all over his head in insubordinate curls.

He walked with an odd, slightly uneven gait, which seemed to you at first to require conscious effort, but which you presently discovered to be as effective a means of locomotion as the average. His feet were smaller than common for a boy of his age, and his legs noticeably slender. But he could walk, easily and rapidly. As he was between thirteen and fourteen years old, there was no reason to doubt that, with his general growth, his legs would more and more approach the normal.

Charlie's legs were the only limping thing about him. His brain cantered, to say the least, where most brains plodded. And he had developed an astonishing and catholic dexterity. This had become emphasized from the time he had begun to play with the new drawing outfit, on a memorable Christmas night.

Every day of his life from that time he had drawn and drawn and drawn. The weird results of first attempts gave place to work that showed the promise of the future. His perspective was masterfully distorted, his chiaroscuro a patchwork of tangled shadows; but here and there, in a face, in the poise of a head, or in the grace and truth of gesture even of some crude caricature, there was a flash of talent almost blinding in its revelation.

The revelations contained in the boy's crude sketches of people were so startling that he grew to dread them. He wanted to like everybody, to confide in everybody, to believe the best of everybody.

He would take up a current magazine and, finding in it the portrait of some man in the public eye, would swiftly copy it in a few strokes. The results were striking, and often totally unexpected. If you took a series of these little sketches and wrote under each the suggested attribute in the features, you would write such words as these:

Against the name of a great philanthropist, "Egotism."

Against that of a man whose reputation for political adroitness had become nation wide, "Benevolence."

Against that of a great captain of industry, "Innocence."

Against that of a certain little man who for twenty years had worked humbly among his brethren of the slums, "Courage."

Charlie himself could foretell no more than could the person at his elbow what verdict the pencil would render. He preferred not to make so hazardous a test, yet there was always an uncanny fascination in the experiment when his friends and acquaintances formed the subjects. He came to shrink from this adventurous portraiture and drove his pencil to other ends.

Charlie entered Minot house when he was thirteen. Sam took him there one morning in early fall.

Daily, with his happy face glowing with the zest of life in its frame of blond curls and his odd, deceptively hesitant gait, he trod the academic path. He made little difficulty with the studies outlined for him, but he was utterly blissful only when he worked in one of the great skylighted studios, learning the rudiments of art by means of the cube, the cylinder and the "block hand" with its flat planes of light and shadow.

The life of Minot house got into this boy's blood. Of all the pupils, whose ages ranged from his own to that of the average person at college graduation, not one lacked the incentive of a definite goal.

"Mary Alice," he would say, "at Minot house everybody's a kind of Galahad Knight. They don't all know it, but they're all on a quest of the Grail. Maybe it isn't the same Grail for everybody, but I guess it amounts to the same thing."

"Charlie, you're a wonder," said Mary Alice. "I never saw such an old-headed child!"

Mary Alice was nineteen. She had been through high school and thought her education was complete. She was back in "the gloves" at Stacey's. Minnie and Sadie and Grace had long since gone the uncharted ways of matrimony. Mary Alice used to look up at the freckled little face in the armed turret, where she herself had formerly done up packages and "tubed" the sales slips and money, and wonder in what other ways the bundle girl's life paralleled her own.

The six years which had made a poised young woman out of the little girl whom Francis Willett had called "skinny" had certainly robbed her of no fraction of her good looks. Lem Brown stood more in awe of his handsome daughter than ever. You couldn't imagine Mary Alice hauling a cartload of washing up Clipper Hill, and Lem couldn't imagine himself issuing any orders that she was in the least bound to respect; and yet he had never, since the days of his rehabilitation, expressed a wish which she had not met promptly and cheerfully.

Lem was and always would be a private soldier, and a good one. He never would be an officer in any kind of army. He had taken orders from Sam Thomas since the very beginning of their relation, which was still that of man and master.

Lem knew as much about Sam's business of dairying as the Boss. Sometimes Sam would compliment Lem by telling him he sure couldn't get along without him. And Lem would always answer: "Oh, I don't know. I guess you could."

He was a glutton for work. He saved Sam the necessity of hiring extra help, except at harvest time; and Learning the Rudiments of Art.

Sam was just. He paid Lem, not on a day-labor basis, but in proportion to his own prosperity. The little white house had not only plenty of green grass; it had flowers in beds, rioting in old-fashioned profusion, and carefully tended vines that flamed with color in season. Lem had money in the bank.

Sometimes Sam would walk out on a Sunday afternoon and stand on top of the rocky knoll in the old pasture lot. He would survey his well-tilled acres with a soothing satisfaction; then his eye strayed along toward the five-acre corner piece, where stood the Brown cottage, which Lem had bought and nearly paid for. In another two years Lem's title would be all free and clear. Sam could see little Dick Brown sitting on the back porch with his father.

NOT WAR HORSES ENOUGH FOR ARMY

Six Months Would Exhaust the Supply of Suitable Mounts.

BETTER BREEDING NEEDED.

Claim Made That Farmers as Well as the Government Would Be Greatly Benefited—Federal Aid Is Extended
in Some Instances to Those Who Improve Their Stock.

If the United States should become involved in war with a first class power less than six months after the commencement of hostilities we would have to commence mounting cavalry and horse artillery on draft horses similar to those used for large express wagons and brewery wagons or else on a type of smaller horse so inferior to the mounts of our enemy that the disadvantage would be marked.

This is the judgment of army heads after a careful canvass of the entire country, in which the two most prominent bankers in every rural county in the country were asked to send a list of the number of horses available for the mounting of cavalry and field artillery, the type and conformation of the horse being carefully specified in the inquiry.

Training Would Be Futile.

If the country should go to war tomorrow the spectacular horsemanship and superior training of her cavalry and light artillery would avail her nothing. She hasn't the horses. According to General Aleshaire, quartermaster general of the army, there are less than 225,000 horses available for military service in the country. This number would be a little more than offer first mounts to a war strength army. In the civil war the federal government in one year—1864—purchased and captured nearly 210,000 horses, and during eight months of that year remounted the Army of the Potomac twice. Sheridan's troops were supplied throughout the war at the rate of three remounts per annum.

Friction between the war department and the department of agriculture now threatens to stop the only effort which has been made in this country to correct this condition. While known as the army remount service, the real object is to improve the breeding of carriage, light harness and saddle horses—types that make the best all round horse for farm and city—by offering the farmers the free use of thoroughbred stallions belonging to the government and directed by the department of agriculture.

In Operation Three Years.

This system, in a most abbreviated form, has been in practice now for three years and with every possible success. Such foals as the United States requires for remount purposes have been purchased, netting a profit to the farmer plus the amount usually collected by the middleman buying horses for the army under contract, and offering the United States a better horse at less expense for cavalry or other mounted military work.

Calling for an initial appropriation of $200,000 and an annual expenditure thereafter of $100,000 for a period of years, a bill for the extension of this system, introduced by Representative Thomas J. Scully of New Jersey, is now awaiting action by the house committee on agriculture. The figures in the bill represent the estimates made by experts of the agriculture and war departments as to the amount necessary to give adequate force to the plan. Representative Scully, after consultation with civilian and military experts, also has introduced a resolution calling upon the house military affairs committee for an investigation to determine whether the present plan should be supplemented in any other way.

Better Horses Only Object.

"The department of agriculture has taken the position that the object of the remount system is to raise horses for purely military purposes and that therefore the system should be directed by the war department," said Mr. Scully.

"The fact of the matter is that the war department is asking only the breeding of horses be encouraged, which every user of a horse for anything except heavy draft work demands; that the scrub stock of this country be weeded out by the offering of pure bred stallions to the farmers. The war department hopes to benefit only incidentally in time of peace, as the peace requirements in horseflesh can very easily be taken care of, and in time of war, when the need of the war department is the need of the entire country, where will the line be drawn between the duty of one department and another?"

"The United States, next to Russia, leads the world in the production of horseflesh. And yet our horses are now of such poor type the foreign buyers coming over here are able, despite the desperate need of their country, to purchase horses for military purposes at about $100 a head.

The government stallions have been of four different breeds, selected by a conference of war, agriculture and civilian experts, and these have been confined to four different sections of the country. The thoroughbreds have been stationed at and near the remount station at Front Royal, Va., where horses for hunting and saddle work are popular.

Bulletin No. 1

A Mistake in the Policy of the Bethlehem Steel Company

To the People:

The Senate of the United States has passed a bill to spend $11,000,000 of the People's money to build a government armor plant. The measure is now before the House of Representatives.

It is said that manufacturers of armor have "gouged" the country in the past, and that a government plant is necessary to secure armor more cheaply.

The mistake of the Bethlehem Steel Company has been that it has kept quiet.

We have allowed irresponsible assertions to be made for so long without denial, that many people now believe them to be proven facts.

We shall make the mistake of silence no longer.

Henceforth we shall pursue a policy of publicity. Misinformation will not be permitted to go uncorrected.

It is and has been the policy of our Company to deal with the American Government fairly and squarely.

We shall henceforth place the details of our relations with the Government before the American People.

The United States has for twenty years obtained the highest grade of armor and has paid a lower price for it than has any other great naval power.

Figures officially compiled for the Senate Committee on Naval Affairs from the Naval Year Book show that under conditions prevailing just before the European war, the chief naval powers of the world were paying these prices for armor:

England, $503 per ton; France, $460; Germany, $490; Japan, $490; UNITED STATES, $425.

A government plant cannot make armor any cheaper than we can do it; and—

We are prepared to manufacture armor at any price which the Government itself shall name as fair. THAT BEING SO, SHOULD $11,000,000 OF THE PEOPLE'S MONEY BE WASTED TO BUILD A GOVERNMENT PLANT?

The joint committee intends to map out a general campaign which will include not only sanitation, but the morals of the city and the beautification of the streets and lawns. It is pointed out that a big step has already been taken in this direction this spring and that by concerted effort on the part of the citizens telling results can be brought about within the present year. MR. LIZARD'S BIRTHDAY PARTY.

"It was Mr. Lizard's birthday, and he was to have a birthday party. They had all been invited. All the other lizards, the newts and the snails. And, perhaps, the very best of all, the fairies had been invited, for they are great friends of Mr. Lizard and his family.

"They had invited the snails to come at ten o'clock in the morning, and all the rest of the guests to come at three in the afternoon. For, you see, they knew that the snails would take so long to get ready and crawl to the party that they would invite them ahead of time. They told the other guests to explain to the snails the little trick they were playing on them.

"So, just at three every single guest arrived.

"What, are we on time?" asked one of the snails.

"No," laughed Mr. Lizard, "you're just five hours late. But you see we really wanted you and we knew that was the only way to get you here by three o'clock."

"The snails all laughed, for after all, though it was certainly not much of a compliment to their power of being on time, still it showed the lizards wanted them.

"It was a splendid party. They had races and dances and games. But best of all was the supper. It consisted of moss-green ice cream, silver spring water, evergreen salad, and buttercup soup. They ate it all backwards for the lizards are not at all fussy about manners you know—so they started with ice cream and ended off with soup!

"But best of all they had a cake, and oh, wasn't Mr. Lizard happy! It was brought in on a chariot which was drawn by four little lizards and it was made of all the delicacies of the woods and had four sprigs of vine hung from little sticks which meant that Mr. Lizard was four months old!

"They begin birthday parties when they are very young in the Lizard world, and you would have laughed had you heard Mr. Lizard say to the little lizards who were still younger:

"Hurry up and invite the raindrops to come for the birthday cake for they keep me young and I am growing old so quickly!"

"Down fell the little raindrops then and as they dropped very softly the

"What, Are We on Time?"

lizards all began to crawl about in twos, threes and fours, which is their way of dancing. Suddenly they missed the little fairies.

"But just at that moment back came the fairies in a beautiful airboat, just exactly like a rainbow, and through the raindrops Mr. Sun peeped in too.

"Then the little lizards were the happiest creatures you can imagine, and as for Mr. Lizard, who was celebrating his birthday, his joy was beyond all description. He even made a speech to all his guests and to his 'surprise guests' the rainbow and Mr. Sun.

"Everyone was very happy and the snails were so glad they had been told to come ahead of time so they wouldn't miss anything!"

HEART DISEASE A CHILD MENACE

New Problem Presented to Those Who Preserve Health.

TUBERCULOSIS DECREASING

Another Enemy Creeps Up Behind as Great Battle Is Being Won—Heart Trouble Leaves Child Handicapped For Life—Home Care Better Than Hospitals For Such Cases.

With heart disease spreading as tuberculosis is being curbed by physicians and social workers are planning preventive work among children to cope with the rising death rate. An article on this menace and what experimental work has shown to be desirable toward curbing it as prepared for the Survey, an organization whose purpose is to investigate the facts of living and working conditions and to suggest means for social advance, is as follows:

Apparently while we have been fighting one enemy face to face another has stolen upon us from behind. New York has reduced her deaths from tuberculosis from 421 per hundred thousand in 1870 to 169 in 1914, but during the same time her deaths from heart disease have increased from 74 to 169.

Repeated In Other Cities.

The experience of New York is repeated in other cities. In Worcester, Mass., no less than 21.5 per cent of all deaths in the industrial population are caused by organic heart disease; 15.2 per cent is the proportion for the whole population of that city.

The situation, or, rather, the realization, has come upon us suddenly, and we are not equipped to deal with heart disease as we are with tuberculosis. Yet it is clear that we shall have to cope with it and devote to it the same study and the same persistent effort to get at underlying causes as we have given to tuberculosis ever since the eighties.

Several articles recently written for medical journals show how similar are the methods needed for the prevention and cure of heart disease to those we are familiar with the case of tuberculosis. In both it is in childhood that preventive work is most needed; in both the symptoms are slight and latent, and the treatment must be prolonged and persisted in after all signs of real trouble have disappeared. Both depend greatly upon environment for cure, and in both home care is beginning to take the place of institutional care.

Leave Child Handicapped.

Both leave the child handicapped and needing vocational training in some occupation which will not make too great demands on his strength.

The Massachusetts General hospital, Boston, has been making an interesting experiment in the home care of children with heart disease and with diseases which threaten the heart, such as chorea and rheumatism. At first these children were kept in the hospital for weeks and even months, but the results were discouraging. When they went home not only improved, but usually looking in the best of health, it was impossible to make the parents believe that the greatest care was still necessary. So relapses came, and the children returned to the clinic sometimes in a worse condition than before.

The physicians realized that "heart disease is a social disease and must be treated socially. The child and his family must be educated, his environment must be altered and adapted to his limitations, and he must be kept under supervision for a long period, not merely until he has recovered from the acute symptoms."

Home Care Best.

So in 1911 a social worker was secured to supervise the home treatment of these children. The results have been so gratifying that home care has been substituted for hospital care for all but the acutely sick.

There is not nearly so much danger of relapse if the child has been in his own home from the beginning and his parents have had the care of him during his sickness and have gone through

BLOOMINGTON WOMAN THANKS MR. MAYR

Mrs. Homer Sexton Tells Friends About Use of Wonderful Treatment.

Mrs. Homer Sexton of Bloomington, Ind., suffered from digestive and stomach disorders for a long time. She tried to find relief, but it seemed a long way off—until she tried Mayr's Wonderful Remedy.

The first dose gave her relief and started her on the way to health. She wrote:

"Your medicine did me a world of good. I have taken your treatment and believe it has cured me, and I have told all my friends about it. I am ever so thankful."

Mayr's Wonderful Remedy gives permanent results for stomach, liver and intestinal ailments. Eat as much and whatever you like. No more distress after eating, pressure of gas in the stomach and around the heart. the long, tedious process of nursing him back to health. There is no need then of readjusting him to his old environment, and there is much less difficulty in adjusting the environment to him when he is really ill than when he comes apparently well. When the home is manifestly unfit, boarding the child out in another family has been found better than sending him to an institution.

The hospital chose a visiting teacher rather than a nurse, for, though there are a few medical facts which she must be able to note, they are easily learned and most of her duties are nonmedical. She must be able so to arrange the home care of the child that he will have rest and quiet and yet be happily occupied, and later on she must be able to plan his return to school or his entrance into industry in such a way that it will not overtax his strength.

For the tuberculous child we have demanded open air schools; for the cardiac child we must demand school-rooms on the ground floor and ungraded classes, where he can make up his lost time without too much effort and perhaps work only half time, being dismissed before the closing hour with its rush and crowd.
